PROHIBITION TO GO ON DISSECTING TABLE

PRES. HOOVER NAMES HIS COMMISSION

10 MEN, 1 WOMAN TO CONDUCT DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT INQUIRY

EVERY PHASE OF LAWLESSNESS IS TO BE THOROUGHLY EXPLORED

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN

Washington, May 21.—Prohibition is to go on the dissecting table for its crucial examination before a preponderantly "dry" law enforcement commission, according to a survey of the public records of President Hoover's appointees.

Ten men and one woman have been designated to conduct the long-promised enforcement inquiry. Every phase of lawlessness is to be explored with a view to remedial action by the federal and state governments.

The commission's report is expected by both wets and dries to determine whether the prohibition experiment is to continue under the formula defined in the Volstead act and the Jones law, or under a modified system of enforced temperance.

The exhaustive inquiry which in every case preceded selection of the members by President Hoover discloses that each is publicly committed to the temperance-by-law principle, but none has a closed mind on the conviction the Volstead act is the only, or best, vehicle for giving effect to the eighteenth amendment.

The members appointed to the commission are:

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war and chairman of the national crime commission.

Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard law school.

Frank J. Loesch, vice president of the Chicago crime commission.

Miss Ada L. Comstock, president of Radcliffe college, Cambridge, Mass.

William I. Grubb, federal judge, northern district of Alabama.

Monte M. Lemann, president of the Louisiana Bar Association.

William S. Kenyon, Iowa, United States circuit judge.

Kenneth R. Mackintosh, former chief justice of the Washington state supreme court.

Paul J. McCormick, federal judge for the southern district of California.

Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, Va.

The new commission will assemble here within ten days, to receive their charge from President Hoover and to make preliminary plans for launching their inquiry. Headquarters will be established in Washington and it is expected the bulk of the work will be done here.

President Hoover has already stated the inquiry will be conducted without sensationalism or dramatic procedure. There will be no junkets from city to city for hearings.

Dean Pound, who has been for many years a member of the American Bar Association's standing committee on jurisprudence and law reform, will bring to the commission an intimate knowledge of the findings of that committee's work covering a period of twenty years.

Baker will bring a similar knowledge of the research of the national crime commission, and Loesch, a comparable fund of knowledge relative to police problems and criminal administration in metropolitan centers.

AIMS TO LEGISLATE AGAINST TALKATIVE BARBERS IN TEXAS

Austin, Texas, May 21.—(U.P.)—Senator Tom Deberry of the Texas legislature aims to bring relief to mankind from one of its oldest evils—talkative barbers.

Deberry introduced a resolution which would amend the state barber bill so that the license of any talkative barber could be revoked.

The senator's resolution drew approving comment from a number of men and women around the capital, but the bill probably will meet the same fate as the one which recently suggested regulating the height of the heels on women's shoes. That died in committee.

200 DEPUTIES SCOUR COUNTRY FOR MURDERERS

FEELING RUNS HIGH AGAINST BRUTAL SLAYERS OF WASECA FARMER, 2 CHILDREN

ONLY CLUES ARE WORN CAP, BATTERED PIPE AND FOOT-PRINTS OF 2 PERSONS

Waseca, Minn., May 21.—(U.P.)—With perhaps 200 deputies and citizens scouring the countryside, feeling ran fever high today against the brutal slayers of a Waseca farmer and his two children.

No trace had been found of the person or persons who late Saturday battered in the skulls of Julius Schuch and his two children with a hammer. A worn cap, a battered pipe and deep footprints of two persons across a field were the only clues to the apparently maniacal killings.

Arrangements were made for a triple funeral to be held Wednesday for Schuch and the two children, Ida, 11, and Ernest, 9. Their beaten bodies lay today in the struggle-torn farm house where they met their deaths.

All persons within a 10-mile radius of the Schuch farm were called in and questioned by W. F. Rhinow, head of the state bureau of criminal investigation. Three men were held for a few hours but later released.

Co-operating in the investigation are Rhinow and nine men from the state bureau and Sheriff Alfred Wadd and a force of 40 deputies.

CAGE MAN HAS ARM BITTEN OFF BY CIRCUS TIGER

Portland, Ore., May 21.—(U.P.)—With one arm bitten off by a tiger and suffering from shock and loss of blood, Douglas Grizzard, 23, cage man with the Barnes circus, was near death in St. Vincent's hospital today.

Grizzard was petting the tiger—one of those announced as a "royal Bengal tiger"—through the bars of the cage when suddenly the huge cat grabbed his hand with its teeth and pulled the man's entire arm through the bars.

Before attendants could rush to his aid, the tiger had chewed and clawed Grizzard's arm so badly it had to be amputated.

St. Paul, May 21.—(U.P.)—The state has withdrawn from sale 2,000 acres of land in Crow Wing and Aitkin counties because of the discovery of a new vein of iron ore in the properties. It was announced here today by Ray P. Chase, state auditor.

The vein is said to be an extension of the Cuyuna range into the two counties although most of the valuable land was in Aitkin county.

The land will be retained by the state.

Senate Secret Roll-Call on Confirmation of Lenroot Appointment Is Revealed by U. P.

ROLL CALL WAS DOUBLY SIGNIFICANT

FIGHT BEING WAGED BY SENATORS JONES AND ROBINSON

SEEK ABOLITION OF 150 YEAR OLD RULE KEEPING SUCH ACTION SECRET

In the following story, Paul R. Mallon, head of the senate staff of the United Press, reveals the senate roll call on confirmation of the nomination of former Sen. Lenroot of Wisconsin to the U. S. court of customs appeals. This vote was taken in secret executive session and attempts to make it public failed.

Mallon won commendation for his enterprise in revealing another roll call a few months ago, that on confirmation of Roy O. West to be secretary of Interior.

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 21.—The secret roll call by which the senate in executive session last Friday confirmed the nomination of Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin to be a customs judge was obtained for publication today by the United Press.

The roll call was doubly significant because of the fight now being led by Senators Jones of Washington, assistant republican leader, Sen. Robinson of Arkansas, democratic floor leader, and others for abolition of the 150 year old rule by which the senate confirms nominees in executive session.

The vote shows 9 democrats bolted party ranks and voted with 33 republicans to confirm President Hoover's selection, while 11 western republicans and 16 democrats voted against him.

Lenroot's nomination was opposed because of his employment as counsel for the public utilities interests in their recent efforts to prevent a senatorial investigation. He was a senator before this employment, but the senate declined to grant him the usual courtesy of immediate confirmation in open session.

Jones and Robinson introduced amendments to abolish the old rule following exclusive publication by the United Press last January of the vote by which the senate confirmed Roy O. West of Illinois to be secretary of Interior. It was the first published secret roll call.

Before the Lenroot vote was taken the senate voted 38 to 36 in favor of publishing a preliminary roll call, but Vice President Curtis ruled a two-thirds majority was necessary for publication.

The Lenroot roll call follows: For Lenroot, 42. Republicans, 33:

Allen, Bingham, Burton, Capper, Dale, Deneen, Edge, Fess, Gillett, Glenn, Goff, Gould, Greene, Hale, Hastings, Hatfield, Hebert, Jones, Kean, McNary, Metcalf, Moses, Odie, Phipps, Reed, Robinson (Ind.), Shortridge, Smoot, Steiwer, Townsend, Vandenberg, Waterman, Watson.

Democrats, 9: Ashurst, Blease, Hayden, King, Overman, Ransdell, Stefk, Stephens, Walsh (Mass.). Against Lenroot, 27. Republicans, 11:

Blaine, Cutting, Frazier, Howell, Johnson, LaFollette, McMaster, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Pine. Democrats, 16:

Barkley, Black, Caraway, Connolly, Dill, Fletcher, Harris, Hefflin, McKellar, Sheppard, Smith, Thomas, Trammell, Wagner, Walsh (Mont.), Wheeler.

Paired: Brookhart for with Borah against. Absent and not voting:

Republicans 9: Couzens, Goldsborough, Keyes, Patterson, Sackett, Schall, Thomas of Idaho, Walcott, Warren.

Democrats 14: Bratton, Broussard, Copeland, George, Glass, Harrison, Hawes, Hendrick, Pittman, Robinson (Ark.), Simmons, Swanson, Tydings, Tyson.

Farmer-labor 1: Shipstead.

Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana was released from charges of high crimes and misdemeanors by the Louisiana Senate Court of Impeachment which acted without taking a word of testimony.

BLACKMAILERS IN LETTERS TO MORROW FAMILY

DEMAND PAYMENT OF $50,000 ON BEHALF OF YOUNGEST DAUGHTER

BOSTON POST PUBLISHES COPY-RIGHTED ARTICLE ABOUT 15-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Boston, May 21.—(U.P.)—The Boston Post said in a copyrighted article today that blackmailers, under threats of death by torture, have demanded the payment of $50,000 on behalf of Miss Constance Morrow, youngest daughter of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and sister of the fiancée of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Constance is 15 years old and a sophomore at Milton Academy, near Boston. The Post said that the blackmail and death threats prompted Lindbergh's flight from New York last Saturday.

Lindbergh flew to North Haven, Me., with Mrs. Morrow, his fiancée, Anne, and her sister Elizabeth. The article said that at the same time secret service men and private detectives were hurried to Boston to protect Constance.

A young woman operative impersonated Constance at her school and tried to trap the extortionists, according to the Post, which said that a package, ostensibly containing the $50,000 demanded, had been left at the place indicated, the Germantown section of West Roxbury.

The Post story was in conflict with the reasons previously given for the Lindbergh flight to North Haven. It was generally believed that the Morrows were gathering for the wedding of Anne and Lindbergh, expected to take place next month at the Morrow estate at North Haven.

MACHINE GUN SPITS 12 BULLETS INTO HOTEL CLERK

Hamilton, Ohio, May 21.—(U.P.)—A machine gun caked behind a high board fence and believed to have been manned by gangsters, spat 12 bullets into the body of George Murphy, night clerk at the Grand hotel here, early today. Murphy came here several months ago from St. Louis. Police believe he was killed in reprisal for the hi-jacking of liquor.

FEDERAL AGENTS CONDUCT RAIDS IN BELTRAMI

16 ALLEGED LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS NOW UNDER ARREST

RAIDS CONDUCTED SIMULTANEOUSLY IN HOTELS, CLUBS, RESORTS, ETC.

St. Paul, May 21.—(U.P.)—Sixteen alleged liquor law violators in Beltrami county were under arrest today following raids by federal agents. The raids were conducted simultaneously in hotels, drinking clubs, resorts and residences in the vicinity of Bemidji where the liquor supply for summer vacationists was believed to originate.

Of the 16 persons arrested 12 will be brought to trial in Beltrami and four will get federal hearings.

It was said that the state will be allowed to try the 12 cases with the consent of the government because Beltrami county authorities had shown "exceptional co-operation" in the fight against liquor traffic.

The four who will get federal hearings were Frank Arnold and Bert Johnson, proprietors of a Bemidji bar; Edward W. Schultz, in whose garage a quantity of assorted liquor was found, and William H. Short, owner of the Frederick hotel, Bemidji. All were to be brought before U. S. Commissioner Ole Skinvick late today at Bemidji.

The others arrested were Carl J. Boesvold, Edgar Cheney, Ealine Cheney, Charles E. Shores, Frank Gagnon, Emma McKinnon, Andrew Anderson, Einar Dahl, John Knute, Mrs. May Scott and Mrs. Vern Abraham.

At the same time the indictment of 80 persons, 70 under the Jones law, was to be asked to a federal grand jury which reported in St. Paul today before Judge John B. Sanborn.

SENATOR NORRIS CONTINUES ATTACK ON 'POWER TRUST'

Washington, May 21.—(U.P.)—Senator Norris, Rep. Neb., was scheduled to continue in the senate today the attack on the "power trust" and its newspaper activities which he opened yesterday with a five hour speech.

Under the rules Norris will have the floor when the senate convenes, and is expected to reveal more of his speech in executive session last week against the confirmation of former Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin.

During his address yesterday, Norris gave some of the speech.

"Lenroot mounts the federal bench with $20,000 of power trust money jingling in his pockets," Norris said.

Norris said Lenroot had been appointed after "working down south to get a few colored delegations for Hoover."

Much of the testimony before the Federal Trade commission regarding the investment in papers by the power interests was read to the senate by Norris.

He charged the trust is attempting to control the public opinion of the world through the press.

Lord Roseberry, Former British Premier, Dies

Epsom, England, May 21.—(U.P.)—Lord Roseberry, former British prime minister and one of the wealthiest peers of the kingdom, died at his home, the Durdans, Epsom, early today.

Lord Roseberry was 82 years old and had been in poor health for several years. His death came while he was suffering from a feverish cold.

FIGHT WAGED TO PREVENT FARM LANDS FLOODED

RESIDENTS WORK DESPERATELY TO STRENGTHEN LEVEES TO AVOID FURTHER BREAKS

DANGER NOW EXTENDS TO INDIANA WHERE WHITE RIVER ROSE SIX FEET

St. Louis, Mo., May 21.—Menaced by its worst enemy, the Mississippi Valley fought today to prevent flood waters from a dozen streams from inundating rich farm lands and adding further loss to the huge total already sustained.

The Missouri, Mississippi, St. Louis and other river in the Missouri-Mississippi valley section have sent their muddy waters coursing over thousands of acres of land.

Residents are fighting desperately to strengthen levees to prevent further breaks such as occurred yesterday near Itley, Mo., in the delta section. The break came in the St. Francis river, at a supposedly safe point. Nearly 50,000 acres of cotton, corn and other land was inundated.

Sandbags were rushed to dozens of danger points along streams throughout Missouri, Tennessee, southern Illinois and Arkansas.

The danger extended into Indiana where the White River rose six feet above flood level and another rise is predicted.

Lowland residents were forced to flee from their homes. The Mississippi is expected to reach 34 feet at St. Louis tomorrow, one-tenth of a foot below the high point of 1927, when thousands of acres of land in the old south were buried under water.

Residents near Russellville, Ark., face the prospect of losing their entire crops. A levee in the Arkansas river broke, letting loose a wall of flood waters which swept over 1,500 acres.

Tennessee reported increasing danger of floods, while Louisiana residents fear that the waters will again engulf their lands. Mississippi rushed a crew of convict laborers to strengthen a dike on the Mississippi at Mounds Landing.

The Wabash river in Indiana is running bank full at West Terre Haute and Robertsville. Backwaters have covered a considerable section.

The weather bureau gave but slight hope that a flood comparable to the disastrous inundation of 1927 can be averted throughout the valley.

Memphis, Tenn., May 21.—One of the most critical situations on the lower Mississippi river since 1927 existed at Mounds Landing, Miss., today where engineers reported 1,000 feet of levee was collapsing.

"The situation is one of the most critical we have had to face in two years," J. S. Allen, chief of engineers of the lower Mississippi levee district, told a meeting of engineers at Greenville, Miss., last night.

Today 250 men were at work on the recently constructed Mounds Landing levee and engineers eagerly awaited permission from President Hoover to use convict labor in their grim battle against the rising flood waters.

WORRIED OVER LITTLE GIRL'S INTEREST IN 'SCARFACE' AL CAPONE

Chicago, May 21.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Charles Worth is worried because her seven-year-old daughter, Betty, has developed such a lively interest in "Scarface" Al Capone.

Betty is learning to read and Mrs. Worth has found that her taste in literature runs almost exclusively to stories about "Scarface." When Betty learned that Al had been jailed in Philadelphia she was broken-hearted. That night her mother overheard Betty saying her prayers:

"God bless mother and father and Al Capone."

Next day Mrs. Worth explained to Betty that Al Capone was a bad man and should not be mentioned in little girls' prayers. Then she listened in on Betty's next prayer and heard this: "God bless mother and father—and that man I mentioned last night."

SENATOR NORRIS CONTINUES ATTACK ON 'POWER TRUST'

Washington, May 21.—(U.P.)—Senator Norris, Rep., Neb., was scheduled to continue in the senate today the attack on the "power trust" and its newspaper activities which he opened yesterday with a five hour speech.

Under the rules Norris will have the floor when the senate convenes, and is expected to reveal more of his speech in executive session last week against the confirmation of former Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin.

During his address yesterday, Norris gave some of the speech.

"Lenroot mounts the federal bench with $20,000 of power trust money jingling in his pockets," Norris said.

Norris said Lenroot had been appointed after "working down south to get a few colored delegations for Hoover."

Much of the testimony before the Federal Trade commission regarding the investment in papers by the power interests was read to the senate by Norris.

He charged the trust is attempting to control the public opinion of the world through the press.

Lord Roseberry, Former British Premier, Dies

Epsom, England, May 21.—(U.P.)—Lord Roseberry, former British prime minister and one of the wealthiest peers of the kingdom, died at his home, the Durdans, Epsom, early today.

Lord Roseberry was 82 years old and had been in poor health for several years. His death came while he was suffering from a feverish cold.

FIGHT WAGED TO PREVENT FARM LANDS FLOODED

RESIDENTS WORK DESPERATELY TO STRENGTHEN LEVEES TO AVOID FURTHER BREAKS

DANGER NOW EXTENDS TO INDIANA WHERE WHITE RIVER
ROSE SIX FEET

St. Louis, Mo., May 21.—Menaced by its worst enemy, the Mississippi Valley fought today to prevent flood waters from a dozen streams from inundating rich farm lands and adding further loss to the huge total already sustained.

The Mississippi, Missouri, St. Louis and other river in the Missouri-Mississippi valley section have sent their muddy waters coursing over thousands of acres of land.

Residents are fighting desperately to strengthen levees as occurred yesterday near Itley, Mo., in the delta section. The break came in the St. Francis river, at a supposedly safe point. Nearly 50,000 acres of cotton, corn and other land was inundated.

Sandbags were rushed to dozens of danger points along streams throughout Missouri, Tennessee, southern Illinois and Arkansas.

The danger extended into Indiana where the White River rose six feet above flood level and another rise is predicted.

Lowland residents, were forced to flee from their homes. The Mississippi is expected to reach 38 feet at St. Louis tomorrow, one-tenth of a foot below the high point of 1927, when thousands of acres of land in the old south were buried under water.

Residents near Russellville, Ark., face the prospect of losing their entire crops. A levee in the Arkansas river broke, letting loose a wall of flood waters which swept over 1,500 acres.

Tennessee reported increasing danger of floods, while Louisiana residents fear that the waters will again engulf their lands. Mississippi rushed a crew of convict laborers to strengthen a dike on the Mississippi at Mounds Landing.

The Wabash river in Indiana is running bank full at West Terre Haute and Robertsville. Backwaters have covered a considerable section.

The weather bureau gave but slight hope that a flood comparable to the disastrous inundation of 1927 can be averted throughout the valley.

Memphis, Tenn., May 21.—One of the most critical situations on the lower Mississippi river since 1927 existed at Mounds Landing, Miss., today where engineers reported 1,000 feet of levee was collapsing.

"The situation is one of the most critical we have had to face in two years," J. S. Allen, chief of engineers of the lower Mississippi levee district, told a meeting of engineers at Greenville, Miss., last night.

Today 250 men were at work on the recently constructed Mounds Landing levee and engineers eagerly awaited permission from President Hoover to use convict labor in their grim battle against the rising flood waters.

WORRIED OVER LITTLE GIRL'S INTEREST IN 'SCARFACE' AL CAPONE

Chicago, May 21.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Charles Worth is worried because her seven-year-old daughter, Betty, has developed such a lively interest in "Scarface" Al Capone.

Betty is learning to read and Mrs. Worth has found that her taste in literature runs almost exclusively to stories about "Scarface." When Betty learned that Al had been jailed in Philadelphia she was broken-hearted. That night her mother overheard Betty saying her prayers:

"God bless mother and father and Al Capone."
Next day Mrs. Worth explained to Betty that Al Capone was a bad man and should not be mentioned in little girls' prayers. Then she listened in on Betty's next prayer and heard this: "God bless mother and father—and that man I mentioned last night."

Mille Lacs Yields Denizens for Annual Pike Supper at B. L. Church

The several committees for the pike supper which will be served by the Men's Club of the Bethlehem Lutheran church on South Seventh street on Friday evening, are busy preparing for the supper.

A large number have been out at Mille Lacs lake fishing. They have had good luck, and there will be a good supply for everyone on Friday evening.

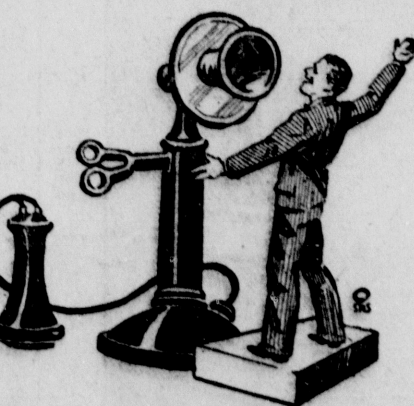

Due to the very cold water this spring, the fish taken from Mille Lacs lake are reported to be better this year than they have been for several years.

The pike supper is an annual affair put on by the Men's Club. In past years several hundred have attended each supper, and preparations are being made to take care of an even larger number this year.

Age Does Not Give Value

DE MOLAYS HAVE RED LETTER DAY

45 DeMolays and Masons of St. Cloud in Attendance at Saturday Meeting

DEGREES CONFERRED

14 Candidates Get Work, Degree Teams of Brainerd and St. Cloud Officiate

Saturday, May 18, 1929, can rightly be called DeMolay day in Brainerd, for the St. Cloud and Brainerd DeMolays will verify this and forever remember this as a red letter day for them.

About 45 DeMolays and Masons from the Granite City arrived in Brainerd at noon Saturday, all anticipating a gran' 'n glorious time. And did they have it? Just ask any of the boys wearing the little DeMolay pin.

The work started promptly at 3:30 o'clock with Roosevelt chapter from Brainerd conferring the initiatory degree on 14 candidates. Master Counsellor Elmo Apuli and his officers put on the work in the usual efficient manner and impressed upon the candidates the lessons and teachings of the Order of DeMolay.

The Granite City chapter followed with the DeMolay or second degree, exemplifying the work of the DeMolay degree in such a manner that the candidates must have carried away in their hearts very good impressions of DeMolay. Granite City chapter certainly has a DeMolay degree team that they can be proud of.

Talks were given by several Masons and DeMolays, after which "Dad" Carey, active member of the Grand Council, for Minnesota, from Duluth, gave a lecture on DeMolay, which brought home to the boys the right meaning of DeMolay. The boys will never forget the lessons that "Dad" Carey brought to them.

The 14 candidates were: Gerald Wygle, Milton Hoopman, Adolph Ottelin, Lloyd Johnson, Emil Hendrickson, Severn Anderson, Palmer Olson and Devere Beckley. These boys are now full-fledged DeMolays, and the boys of Roosevelt Chapter are happy and proud to have them with them. The remaining six candidates were from St. Cloud and will belong to the Granite City Chapter.

At 6 o'clock a banquet was served by the Pep class of the M. E. church, composed of all the good things to eat that all boys know how to make short work of. The menu included roast pork, mashed potatoes and brown gravy and much more, and topped off with strawberry shortcake.

At 8 o'clock the Legion of Honor degree was conferred upon John Franklin Fisher by "Dad" Carey assisted by Howard Brothers, Milton Bergstrand, Elmo Apuli, Clayton Larson, Kent Whitlock, Wyverne Schranklin, Robert "Bob" White, Robert "Bobby" Anderson, Lester Cregar, Floyd Finne and Donald "Don" Marshall who performed the duties of their respective stations in a very dignified manner.

Muscle for the degree was rendered by William Anderson, D. H. Fullerton, Gust Wahlstrom, R. E. Crust with Edward Crust, Jr., at the piano. The Legion of Honor is the highest honor which can be bestowed upon an active DeMolay.

Immediately following the conferring of the Legion of Honor, Past Chairman Ed. Crust, Sr., presented "Dad" Mitchell with a "Cross of Honor" ring, this degree having been conferred upon "Dad" G. H. Mitchell previously by "Dad" Carey. After this "Dad" Mitchell presented Past Chairman Ed. Crust, Sr., and Advisor "Dad" J. P. Anderson with advisor's emblems as a token of appreciation from the Roosevelt chapter for their untiring efforts on behalf of the DeMolay.

At 9:30 o'clock the boys, with their friends, composed of Masons and wives, and their girl friends, repaired to the banquet room again where about 75 couples danced to the strains of music furnished by none other than the newly organized DeMolay orchestra. These Hot Points are as follows: piano, Katherine Allbright; saxophones, Roland Jenkins and Malcolm Ellison; trumpet, Don Marshall; banjo, Warren Golemboski and drums, Don Geist.

Much credit is due Don Geist for this new organization, as Don's pep and enthusiasm brought this group of young musicians together, Roosevelt chapter can justly be proud of them.

At 12 o'clock the dancing came to a close and all enthusiastically proclaimed Roosevelt chapter royal entertainers, and all Brainerd voted St. Cloud mighty good fellows.

Master Counsellor Eino Apuli and his officers put on the work in the usual efficient manner and impressed upon the candidates the lessons and teachings of the Order of DeMolay.

The Granite City chapter followed with the DeMolay or second degree, exemplifying the work of the DeMolay degree in such a manner that the candidates must have carried away in their hearts very good impressions of DeMolay. Granite City chapter certainly has a DeMolay degree team that they can be proud of.

Talks were given by several Masons and DeMolays, after which "Dad" Carey, active member of the Grand Council, for Minnesota, from Duluth, gave a lecture on DeMolay, which brought home to the boys the right meaning of DeMolay. The boys will never forget the lessons that "Dad" Carey brought to them.

The 14 candidates were: Gerald Wygle, Milton Hoopman, Adolph Ottelin, Lloyd Johnson, Emil Hendrickson, Severn Anderson, Palmer Olson and Devere Beckley. These boys are now full-fledged DeMolays, and the boys of Roosevelt Chapter are happy and proud to have them with them. The remaining six candidates were from St. Cloud and will belong to the Granite City Chapter.

At 6 o'clock a banquet was served by the Pep class of the M. E. church, composed of all the good things to eat that all boys know how to make short work of. The menu included roast pork, mashed potatoes and brown gravy and much more, and topped off with strawberry shortcake.

At 8 o'clock the Legion of Honor degree was conferred upon John Franklin Fisher by "Dad" Carey assisted by Howard Brotherson, Milton Bergstrand, Eino Apuli, Clayton Larson, Kent Whitlock, Wyverre Schranklin, Robert "Bob" White, Robert "Bobby" Anderson, Lester Creger, Floyd Finne and Donald "Don" Marshall who performed the duties of their respective stations in a very dignified manner.

Music for the degree was rendered by William Anderson, D. H. Fullerton, Gust Wahlstrom, R. E. Crust with Edward Crust, Jr., at the piano. The Legion of Honor is the highest honor which can be bestowed upon an active DeMolay.

Immediately following the conferring of the Legion of Honor, Past Chairman Ed. Crust, Sr., presented "Dad" Mitchell with a "Cross of Honor" ring, this degree having been conferred upon "Dad" G. H. Mitchell previously by "Dad" Carey. After this "Dad" Mitchell presented Past Chairman Ed. Crust, Sr., and Advisor "Dad" J. P. Anderson with advisor's emblems as a token of appreciation from the Roosevelt chapter for their untiring efforts on behalf of the DeMolay.

At 9:30 o'clock the boys, with their friends, composed of Masons and wives, and their girl friends, repaired to the banquet room again where about 75 couples danced to the strains of music furnished by none other than the newly organized DeMolay orchestra. These Hot Points are as follows: piano, Katherine Albright; saxophones, Roland Jenkins and Malcolm Ellison; trumpet, Don Marshall; banjo, Warren Golemboski and drums, Don Geist.

Much credit is due Don Geist for this new organization, as Don's pep and enthusiasm brought this group of young musicians together, Roosevelt chapter can justly be proud of them.

At 12 o'clock the dancing came to a close and all enthusiastically proclaimed Roosevelt chapter royal entertainers, and all Brainerd voted St. Cloud mighty good fellows.

TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS OF MINNESOTA CITIES AND VILLAGES

INTERESTING problems of Minnesota's cities and villages will be discussed at the sixteenth annual convention of the League of Minnesota Municipalities at Austin June 12, 13 and 14. Approximately 500 municipal officials are expected to attend.

Although plans thus far are only tentative, the question of development of schools and conferences for municipal officials is expected to hold the attention of the convention delegates in the main session of the first day.

Among the schools and conferences are included: Northwest Fire school, Minnesota Police conference, Minnesota Dairy Inspectors conference, Minnesota Tax conference, Minnesota Safety council, Minnesota Public Utility conference, Minnesota Section of the American Water Works association, and the Minnesota City Managers' association. All of these groups are either sponsored or receive the support of the League.

The morning session of the opening day of the convention will be devoted to reports of the League legislative committee, when a summary of all important acts passed by the 1929 legislature affecting municipalities will be given.

PUBLIC utilities and problems concerning them will be considered during the early session of the second day. Owing to the wide interest in the public utilities situation, nationally known authorities have been invited to speak.

Co-operation between municipalities and the state in connection with criminal apprehension will hold another portion of the day's sessions, as will a review of recent accomplishments of the League in the regulation of fire insurance rates.

The Minnesota section of the American Water Works association and the Minnesota Public Utilities conference will meet together with the League during some of the sessions. A special program of round table discussions will also be conducted.

W. D. McKay of Brainerd, secretary of the Water and Light board, is chairman of the Municipal Public Utilities conference. Other Brainerd officials like Mayor Frank E. Little and City Attorney D. H. Fullerton have committee appointments.

CROW WING COUNTY TO RECEIVE $48,321 ROAD AID

CROW WING county has been allotted a total of $48,321 of state money to use on its highways, according to information received by the Brainerd Dispatch from the State Highway department.

Of this amount $19,543 comes from the one mill tax for use on state aid roads and $28,778 from the new gas tax fund for use on other roads to be designed as "county aid roads."

The gas tax allotment is based on an estimate that the gas tax receipts for 1929 will reach $8,250,000, making the counties' one-third $2,750,000. Under the law the minimum of any county is three-quarter per cent of this amount, or $20,625.

The allotment board consists of J. A. Schmah, state treasurer, R. G. Chase, state auditor, and C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways. Warrants will be sent to the county auditors by the state auditor Aug. 1 of their pro rata share of all money in the fund received up to July 1. Money received during the last half of the year will be distributed Feb. 1. If the gas tax receipts should be greater or less than estimated, the payments to the counties will be increased or decreased proportionately. Due to the fact that the increase in the gas tax from 2 to 3 cents did not take effect until May 1, and also because gas consumption is less in the first half of the year, it is likely that the payments Aug. 1 will be about one-third of the amounts allotted to each county.

The law provides that the county aid shall be allotted on the basis of area, mileage of county and town roads, and traffic needs. There being no statewide traffic data available, the allotment this year was made on the basis of area and road mileage, except in a few counties where unusual traffic conditions were held to justify additional aid. The board hopes to have more data on traffic needs before the next allotment is made.

The county commissioners of Crow Wing county will have their next regular meeting on Saturday, June 1, at which time they will officially receive news of the welcome allotment. The money allotted, however, does not come in a lump sum. Some may be received August 1 or September 1.

AND GREAT HONORS COME TO THEM

CAPTAIN W. H. FAWCETT, who fought in two wars, and his brother, Captain Roscoe Fawcett, a hero of the air service in the World War, have been added to Governor Flem D. Sampson's roster of these distinguished gentlemen.

They have been added to Governor Flem D. Sampson's roster of these distinguished gentlemen.

According to an Associated Press report from Frankfort, formerly only Kentuckians were colonels, but Kentucky's titled aristocracy has expanded to take in Chicago, Kansas City, Milwaukee, New York, Cincinnati, including Mahoud Samy Pasha, Egyptian minister to the United States.

Many of us in the North have not seen many Kentucky colonels, but we had our ideas just the same. We pictured a gentleman with a large, soft hat, a flowing black tie, a long-tailed coat, a man who was politeness and good fellowship personified, a keen rider, a judge of good horses, a man who in the pre-Volstead days was a judge of good Bourbon, a man who was heart and soul in love with his blue-grass country, its beautiful ladies, and who, if it came to editing and publishing, was a model of Col. Watterson.

In some communities of the north it has been the habit to confer the title by common consent so as to distinguish the dignity of the one so honored.

But to have the governor, the chief executive of a great, proud commonwealth like Kentucky, the primary home of a Kentucky colonel, confer the title and add a man to his staff is an honor of the highest kind. As to the Fawcetts, we knew they were good Kentucky colonel timber even before they were so designated.

OUR Helen Wills faced the Court at Buckingham with the same inscrutable calmness that she faces a tennis court. We agree with Will Rogers that she looks more like herself in her rompers or tennis clothes than she does in the long-trailed court gown.

In every day life it seems that some of the biggest things we worry about never happen. We lose lots of sleep crossing bridges before they are even built.

SENIORS HEAR REV. OLMSTED AT BACCALAUREATE SERVICES SUNDAY

IMPORTANCE OF DREAMS IN RELATION TO SUCCESS STRESSED

Marking one of the last occasions at which the senior class of '29 was to appear en masse, the Baccalaureate services were held Sunday evening, May 19, at the Methodist church. A capacity crowd of parents and friends of the graduates filled the church to witness this service which is one of the most impressive and most memorable events in the high school career of any student.

After the audience was seated, the class marched to their seats in the center front section. The high school girls chorus occupied the choir loft. The speakers sat near the front of the platform which was fittingly decorated with ferns, palms, and flowers. Superintendent W. C. Cobb presided.

Rev. F. A. Kufus of the Methodist church opened the services with an invocation, after which "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" was sung by the girls chorus, directed by Miss Cora Rickard and accompanied by Evelia Carlson.

Rev. A. G. Patterson of the Presbyterian church read the 26th chapter of Acts as a scripture lesson.

A violin solo, "Adoration" by Borowski was played by Victor Bourgeois, a member of the class.

Rev. N. P. Olmsted of the Congregational church delivered the sermon. He chose for his theme the 19th verse of the scripture just read. His splendid address carried home to the listeners the truth that "every great achievement is preceded by a vision; a purpose is wrought in the soul before it is carried out by the hands; back of every act is the dream, and back of the dream is the personality."

Rev. Olmsted continued to stress the point of the importance of dreams in relation to one's success in life by citing an example of a masterpiece of sculpturing. As the sculptor, Taft, has realized his dream in the statue "The Wave of Life" at the entrance to Washington Park in Chicago; as the artist's dream is embodied in the Washington monument; as our great American institutions are the realization of the dreams of Adams, Hamilton, Washington, so our splendid school system is the embodiment of the vision of the founders of our democracy and the commonwealth of Minnesota.

Class Reaps Benefits of Visions
The class of 1929 are reaping the benefits of these visions as well as those of the parents who have so fondly dreamed of an education for their sons and daughters.

As the graduation class stands on the threshold of the realization of their dreams, and looks onward to peak after peak of worthy ambitions, the speaker craved for them the boon of a noble challenge, a vision of self and its possibilities which should spur them onward to confident endeavor in the service of God and humanity.

The speaker's vision for the unfolding of the lives of his student audience was that their efforts should fit into the scheme of the Great Master, as did those of Paul (in the Scripture lesson) and that they might be able to say with him, "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision."

The girls octet sang "O For a Closer Walk With God" after which Rev. Kufus pronounced the benediction. With the audience still seated, the class marched out—each individual wearing a thoughtful and saddened expression, reflecting his appreciation of Rev. Olmsted's sympathetic advice and good wishes, and realizing, more poignantly than ever, the significance of the occasion that was so soon to separate him and his classmates who had spent four delightful years together—now to place him at the stern of the responsibilities of post-high school days.

THE FACULTY

Miss Aline Ruthe, advanced typing instructor, was born in Freeport, Illinois. She remained in her home town, later moved to receive her elementary and high school education. Miss Ruthe rightfully belongs to that small body of 3-year graduates of which there are few to be found among the average student body of our modern school system and therefore receives due credit for her achievements.

Whitewater State Teachers' College of Wisconsin was the school selected for Miss Ruthe's college education. Here she took part in the school dramatics and finally became a member of the Thespian Dramatic Club.

"As a lover of the out-of-doors, Miss Ruthe finds a great deal of pleasure in boating, swimming and motoring among the pines and picturesque lakes of northern Minnesota. Her chief ambition, she says, is to receive further training along educational lines so that she may be truly ranked among the distinguished as a "pedagogue superior."

Lieutenant Wirth Talks On Work of U. S. Navy

A special assembly was called last Wednesday in the City Hall in order to give the students a chance to hear Lieutenant Wirth of the U. S. Navy give a talk on naval history and advantages to young men in joining that department of defense.

In the course of the address, Lt. Wirth compared the situation of two young men, one employed in a machine shop and the other in the navy, both having the same salary. He said that in case of sickness the workman's salary stopped while the sailor's salary continued with hospital expenses thrown in.

He also told of the chances for travel and extension of education which is offered in the navy and concluded his speech by referring all the boys who were interested in his proposition to Mr. Dickertoff, our own recruiting officer in Brainerd.

Well, as the divorcees say, I will now ring off.

Junior-Senior Prom to Take Place at Rutgers

On Saturday evening of this week the greatest social event of the year, which the upper classmen have been looking forward to for the last few months, will be held at Rutgers on Bay Lake. It has been the custom in the past years for the Junior class to entertain the Seniors at a banquet.

The decorations will be in Indian design, with the entertainment corresponding. This is being done to carry over the idea from the annual of this year. The speakers are of Brainerd high school, with the presidents of the classes presiding over the ceremonies. The banquet will be at 6:30 o'clock.

ALUMNI

William Johnstone and Milford Downie of the University of Minnesota spent the week-end with their parents.

Word has been received of the marriage of Dr. Ralph Peterson, a former graduate of Brainerd high school, to Miss Ann C. Hanson of Minneapolis at the Grace Lutheran church in that city Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Gilford Peterson, who formerly was a student and who will graduate from the college of dentistry at Minnesota this June, acted as best man. We extend our heartfelt congratulations to them.

William Lowe, a student at Creighton University in Creighton, Neb., has been visiting here for the past week.

Wine Barnes, who is attending the Calhoun secretarial school at Minneapolis, spent the week-end here.

Miss Tornstrom has recently received a letter from Frank Bane, who is with the aviation corps at Hawaii saying that he has received the songs and yells of the Brainerd high school, which his company will use in the future.

Captain Shutter Speaks to Students on C. M. T. C.

Captain Shutter, of the U. S. army and in charge of the organized reserves at St. Paul, Minn., spoke to the Freshmen and Sophomores yesterday in the Old Court House and to the Juniors and Seniors at the City Hall. He spoke on the benefits that a young man might derive from spending a summer at one of the 50 Citizens' Military Training Camps scattered about the country.

"These camps are held annually from August 1 to August 30, both dates inclusive and from July 6 to August 8 for those who are unable to attend the regular session," stated Captain Shutter.

Any youth from 17 to 24 is eligible to attend these training camps with all expenses paid.

"The work," continued the speaker, "is divided into four courses. Each course has several different divisions and each young citizen may enter any division he wants to specialize in."

"The morning hours are devoted to drill—the afternoon to organized athletics of all kinds, the evening is given over to entertainments such as dancing, amateur stunts, boxing and wrestling."

The purpose of these camps is to instill upon the boy starting into the world, the value of good training, discipline and healthy exercise.

PROS AND CONS

"Down in a green and shady dell, A modest violet grew—"

Since our first and only attempt to break into the humor column we have listened to comments about our efforts and due to the urging of our constituents, we have decided to emerge from obscurity. We modestly announce that we know we are good and it really is delightful that the world has discovered our genius.

Speaking of gardens in the spring what's hardest to raise? One's back, of course.

Sunday night services made us wish we were a Senior, almost. It must be overwhelming to carry around all that dignity. So much is expected of the Seniors these days.

Senior: Of course, if I work for you, I expect to receive what I am worth.

Employer: I'll do better than that. I'll even pay you a small salary.

Billy had a big car. He said with loud, long screeches, I fill it full with many a girl. But where are all the peaches?

BRAINERD COPS THIRD PLACE IN DISTRICT TRACK MEET FRIDAY

FACULTY

Mr. Rosel, B. H. S. manual training and mechanical drawing instructor, was born in Moorhead, Minn., where his earlier education as well as his high school training was received. At Moorhead high he became very prominent in athletics, which was to play an important part in his later teaching career. He was a member of the all-state high school football team one year besides playing on the school baseball and basketball teams.

Mr. Rosel's later education was obtained at Moorhead State Teachers' College with other courses on the side at the University of Minnesota and the Stout Institute in Wisconsin. While at college he received merit for his excellent work as a member of the baseball, football and basketball teams.

He joined the faculty at B. H. S. in 1920 when he was placed in charge of athletics besides teaching industrial arts. At the present time as supervisor of our school baseball team he is doing his part to keep up the standard of athletics at Brainerd high.

STUDENTS ENJOY LAST COMMUNITY SONGFEST

Community singing in the Brainerd high school is now a thing of the past until next fall. Reluctantly the students in both the city hall and old court house fled to their classes after one last and glorious "sing" yesterday morning. Since they had their choice of songs, they waxed sentimental, and sang old favorites like "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." Then came "Sailing" and "The Little Brown Church in the Vale" which almost caused tears to flow.

To relieve the saddened hearts, Miss Tornstrom called attention to the fact that Brainerd had won third place in the track meet at Little Falls and requested that all sing the Brainerd high school song. This request was granted with a will, after which Hallet Clarkson led the old court house assembly in a yell for the track men.

At the city hall, in response to the unanimous urging by the students, Mr. Elden and Mr. LaMeter sang lustily "The Old Family Toothbrush" and "The Little Red Caboose." Thus was gloom dispelled even though the seniors cannot anticipate any more community singing as the underclassmen can.

GOOD MUSIC FEATURES CONCERT OF GLEE CLUB

The annual spring concert given by the Girls' Glee Club, the octet and members of the orchestra, all under the direction of Miss Rickard was not well attended due to adverse weather conditions last Wednesday night, but those who were present were treated to a well-balanced program of songs, readings and instrumental selections.

Perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the program was the singing of the Girls' Glee Club which has made remarkable progress this past year. The cantata "Spring Cometh" which seemed very appropriate that evening, was well sung and proved to be an excellent finale.

NETOPPEW CAMPFIRE GIRLS DINE AT GULL

Last Thursday afternoon the Netoppew Campfire girls had dinner at Jones's cottage on Gull Lake.

All of the girls helped to prepare the dinner. Lucille Wrobel, who is working for her "Firemaker's" rank, supervised the preparation. The girls had planned for a good time on the lake but the boat proved to leak faster than the water could be dipped out. The evening was spent in playing various games, singing songs, giving yells, and roasting marshmallows.

At the council fire last night, the girls reported on honors and were presented with beads. Tams and armbands were given to each member. Lucille Wrobel who will take her rank as firemaker at the grand council fire got her ceremonial gown.

Now that Alice Nolan and George McCaffrey have won the tennis championship, we wish to bestow a crown upon Wilfred Knutson. His lower jaw is the best example of perpetual motion that we know. He's the champion gum-chewer.

MOE WINS A FIRST, SCHUETY AND ABRAHAMSON TAKE SECONDS

Brainerd interscholastic athletics for the year 1928-1929 came to a close last Saturday afternoon in a dual track meet held at Little Falls when Kasch's proteges took third in total number of points made.

Although chilled by cool breezes, the competitors were held from establishing any new dash records. Those that were, were in the weight events.

The result, to the team, merely showed that experience is necessary for a winning aggregation. Practically the same team will be in the running for 1930 honors and should go far considering the fact that for most of the team it was their first opportunity to take part in a track meet.

Brainerd scored one first, two seconds and four thirds. Moe was the only blue and white runner to win a first, his event being the half-mile. In the javelin throw Abrahamson scored a second as did Lammon in the 440-yard dash. Hoffbauer placed third in both the high and low hurdles, and Schuety took thirds in the 160 and 220-yard dashes.

The nine representatives of B. H. S. were: Abrahamson, Foster, Hautala, Hoffbauer, Johnson, Karlson, Lammon, Moe and Schuety.

Modern History Students Project Completed

Miss Herwig's modern history classes have handed in the projects they have had two months to complete. Many of these projects show ability on the part of the pupils to find the material and put it together neatly.

The pupils showed so much talent in their projects that an exhibition has already been arranged for this spring or early next fall.

Among those which received A's and A plus are: Amy Markham, who made a booklet on "Printing in Modern Times"; Harold Moe, who made a booklet illustrating the progress of ships, by a series of hand drawings which were very neat; Kenneth Stimson, who made a booklet illustrating the progress of aviation; Alvin Antonsen, who made one concerned with "Our Flag" and Lyle Mayo, who also selected this subject.

Jean Cass dressed dolls in foreign costumes, but omitted the modern flapper and is at work now to complete this dress. Marie Hoffbauer on printing, David Weber on pipe organs and Mary Hawkins on occupations, also prepared excellent projects.

One of the very best of the booklets from an historical standpoint is one belonging to Arline Hagberg who compiled pictures to show changes in dress from the dawn of civilization to the present day. This booklet is extremely interesting and has been given much thought in the preparation.

There are still many more projects to come in and which no doubt will be very much worth while.

TRI-HI GIRLS RECEIVE PINS AT LAST MEETING

One of the last Tri-Hi suppers which are to be served this school year took place last Monday. The serving committees consisted of: Rose Gudmundsen, Isabel Reagan, Genevieve Jenkins, Almira Christensen and Louise Clausen.

After the supper the members received their pins which they have been waiting for with much anxiety. They also may have the honor of being able to originate the national Tri-Hi pin.

The long and the short of it—Louise Clausen and Roger Callahan.

EXCHANGE

The plans for the commencement of the Technical High St. Cloud has just been completed.

The Lake City graduates have secured Professor Benjamin E. Youngdahl from Gustavus Adolphus for their commencement speaker.

The Junior-Senior banquet of Wadena high was considered a huge success by all.

CROW WING COUNTY TO RECEIVE $48,321 ROAD AID

CROW WING county has been allotted a total of $48,321 of state money to use on its highways, according to information received by the Brainerd Dispatch from the State Highway department.

Of this amount $19,543 comes from the one mill tax for use on state aid roads and $28,778 from the new gas tax fund for use on other roads to be designed as "county aid roads."

The gas tax allotment is based on an estimate that the gas tax receipts for 1929 will reach $8,250,000, making the counties' one-third $2,750,000. Under the law the minimum of any county is three-quarter per cent of this amount, or $20,625.

The allotment board consists of J. A. Schmahl, state treasurer, R. G. Chase, state auditor, and C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways. Warrants will be sent to the county auditors by the state auditor Aug. 1 of their pro rata share of all money in the fund received up to July 1. Money received during the last half of the year will be distributed Feb. 1. If the gas tax receipts should be greater or less than estimated, the payments to the counties will be increased or decreased proportionately. Due to the fact that the increase in the gas tax from 2 to 3 cents did not take effect until May 1, and also because gas consumption is less in the first half of the year, it is likely that the payments Aug. 1 will be about one-third of the amounts allotted to each county.

The law provides that the county aid shall be allotted on the basis of area, mileage of county and town roads, and traffic needs. There being no statewide traffic data available, the allotment this year was made on the basis of area and road mileage, except in a few counties where unusual traffic conditions were held to justify additional aid. The board hopes to have more data on traffic needs before the next allotment is made.

The county commissioners of Crow Wing county will have their next regular meeting on Saturday, June 1, at which time they will officially receive news of the welcome allotment. The money allotted, however, does not come in a lump sum. Some may be received August 1 or September 1.

AND GREAT HONORS COME TO THEM

CAPTAIN W. H. FAWCETT, who fought in two wars, and his brother, Captain Roscoe Fawcett, a hero of the air service in the World War, have been made Kentucky colonels.

They have been added to Governor Flem D. Sampson's roster of these distinguished gentlemen.

According to an Associated Press report from Frankfort, formerly only Kentuckians were colonels, but Kentucky's titled aristocracy has expanded to take in Chicago, Kansas City, Milwaukee, New York, Cincinnati, including Mahoud Samy Pasha, Egyptian minister to the United States.

Many of us in the North have not seen many Kentucky colonels, but we had our ideas just the same. We pictured a gentleman with a large, soft hat, a flowing black tie, a long-tailed coat, a man who was politeness and good fellowship personified, a keen rider, a judge of good horses, a man who in the pre-Volstead days was a judge of good Bourbon, a man who was heart and soul in love with his blue-grass country, its beautiful ladies, and who, if it came to editing and publishing, was a model of Col. Watterson.

In some communities of the north it has been the habit to confer the title by common consent so as to distinguish the dignity of the one so honored.

But to have the governor, the chief executive of a great, proud commonwealth like Kentucky, the primary home of a Kentucky colonel, confer the title and add a man to his staff is an honor of the highest kind. As to the Fawcetts, we knew they were good Kentucky colonel timber even before they were so designated.

OUR Helen Wills faced the Court at Buckingham with the same inscrutable calmness that she faces a tennis court. We agree with Will Rogers that she looks more like herself in her rompers or tennis clothes than she does in the long-trailed court gown.

In every day life it seems that some of the biggest things we worry about never happen. We lose lots of sleep crossing bridges before they are even built.

SENIORS HEAR REV. OLMSTED AT BACCALAUREATE SERVICES SUNDAY

IMPORTANCE OF DREAMS IN RELATION TO SUCCESS STRESSED

Marking one of the last occasions at which the senior class of '29 was to appear en masse, the Baccalaureate services were held Sunday evening, May 19, at the Methodist church. A capacity crowd of parents and friends of the graduates filled the church to witness this service which is one of the most impressive and most memorable events in the high school career of any student.

After the audience was seated, the class marched to their seats in the center front section. The high school girls chorus occupied the front loft. The speakers sat near the front of the platform which was fittingly decorated with ferns, palms, and flowers. Superintendent W. C. Cobb presided.

Rev. F. A. Kufus of the Methodist church opened the services with an invocation, after which "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" was sung by the girls chorus, directed by Miss Cora Rickard and accompanied by Evodia Carlson.

Rev. A. G. Patterson of the Presbyterian church read the 26th chapter of Acts as a scripture lesson. A violin solo, "Adoration" by Borowski was played by Victor Bourgeois, a member of the class.

Rev. N. P. Olmsted of the Congregational church delivered the sermon. He chose for his theme the 19th verse of the scripture just read. His splendid address carried home to the listeners the truth that "every great achievement is preceded by a vision; a purpose is wrought in the soul before it is carried out by the hands; back of every act is the dream, and back of the dream is the personality."

Rev. Olmsted continued to stress the point of the importance of dreams in relation to one's success in life by citing an example of a masterpiece of sculpturing. As the sculptor, Taft, has realized his dream in the statue "The Wave of Life" at the entrance to Washington Park in Chicago; as the artist's dream is embodied in the Washington monument; as our great American institutions are the realization of the dreams of Adams, Hamilton, Washington, so our splendid school system is the embodiment of the vision of the founders of our democracy and the commonwealth of Minnesota.

Class Reaps Benefits of Visions
The class of 1929 are reaping the benefits of these visions as well as those of the parents who have so fondly dreamed of an education for their sons and daughters.

As the graduation class stands on the threshold of the realization of their dreams, and looks onward to peak after peak of worthy ambitions, the speaker craved for them the boon of a noble challenge, a vision of self and its possibilities which should spur them onward to confident endeavor in the service of God and humanity.

The speaker's vision for the unfolding of the lives of his student audience was that their efforts should fit into the scheme of the Great Master, as did those of Paul (in the Scripture lesson) and that they might be able to say with him, "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision."

The girls octet sang "O For a Closer Walk With God" after which Rev. Kufus pronounced the benediction. With the audience still seated, the class marched out—each individual wearing a thoughtful and saddened expression, reflecting his appreciation of Rev. Olmsted's sympathetic advice and good wishes, and realizing, more poignantly than ever, the significance of the occasion that was so soon to separate him and his classmates who had spent four delightful years together—now to place him at the stern of the responsibilities of post-high school days.

THE FACULTY

Miss Aline Ruthe, advanced typing instructor, was born in Freeport, Illinois. She remained in her home town long enough to receive her elementary and high school education. Miss Ruthe rightfully belongs to that small body of 3-year graduates of which there are few to be found among the average student body of our modern school system and therefore receives due credit for her achievements.

Whitewater State Teachers' College of Wisconsin was the school selected for Miss Ruthe's college education. Here she took part in the school dramatics and finally became a member of the Thespian Dramatic Club.

As a lover of the out-of-doors, Miss Ruthe finds a great deal of pleasure in boating, swimming and motoring among the pines and picturesque lakes of northern Minnesota. Her chief ambition, she says, is to receive further training along educational lines so that she may be truly ranked among the distinguished as a "pedagogue superior."

Lieutenant Wirth Talks On Work of U. S. Navy

A special assembly was called last Wednesday in the City Hall in order to give the students a chance to hear Lieutenant Wirth of the U. S. Navy give a talk on naval history and advantages to young men in joining that department of defense.

In the course of the address, Lt. Wirth compared the situation of two young men, one employed in a machine shop and the other in the navy, both having the same salary. He said that in case of sickness the workman's salary stopped while the sailor's salary continued with hospital expenses thrown in.

He also told of the chances for travel and extension of education which is offered in the navy and concluded his speech by referring all the boys who were interested in his proposition to Mr. Dickertoff, our own recruiting officer in Brainerd.

Well, as the divorcees say, I will now ring off.

Junior-Senior Prom to Take Place at Rutgers

On Saturday evening of this week the greatest social event of the year, which the upper classmen have been looking forward to for the last few months, will be held at Rutgers on Bay Lake. It has been the custom in the past years for the Junior class to entertain the Seniors at a banquet. The decorations will be in Indian design, with the entertainment corresponding. This is being done to carry over the idea from the annual of this year. The speakers are of Brainerd high school, with the presidents of the classes presiding over the ceremonies. The banquet will be at 6:30 o'clock.

ALUMNI

William Johnstone and Milford Downie of the University of Minnesota spent the week-end with their parents.

Word has been received of the marriage of Dr. Ralph Peterson, a former graduate of Brainerd high school, to Miss Ann C. Hanson of Minneapolis at the Grace Lutheran church in that city Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Gifford Peterson, who formerly was a student and who will graduate from the college of dentistry at Minnesota this June, acted as best man. We extend our heartiest congratulations to them.

William Lowe, a student at Creighton University in Creighton, Neb., has been visiting here for the past week.

Wine Barnes, who is attending the Calhoun secretarial school at Minneapolis, spent the week-end here.

Miss Tornstrom has recently received a letter from Frank Bane, who is with the aviation corps at Hawaii saying that he has received the songs and yells of the Brainerd high school, which his company will use in the future.

Captain Shutter Speaks to Students on C. M. T. C.

Captain Shutter, of the U. S. army and in charge of the organized reserves at St. Paul, Minn., spoke to the Freshmen and Sophomores yesterday in the Old Court House and to the Juniors and Seniors at the City Hall. He spoke on the benefits that a young man might derive from spending a summer at one of the 50 Citizens' Military Training Camps scattered about the country.

"These camps are held annually from August 1 to August 30, both dates inclusive and from July 6 to August 8 for those who are unable to attend the regular session," stated Captain Shutter.

Any youth from 17 to 24 is eligible to attend these training camps with all expenses paid.

"The work," continued the speaker, "is divided into four courses. Each course has several different divisions and each young citizen may enter any division he wants to specialize in."

The purpose of these camps is to instill upon the boy starting into the world, the value of good training, discipline and healthy exercise.

PROS AND CONS

"Down in a green and shady dell,
A modest violet grew—"

Since our first and only attempt to break into the humor column we have listened to comments about our efforts and due to the urging of our constituents, we have decided to emerge from obscurity. We modestly announce that we know we are good and it really is delightful that the world has discovered our genius.

Speaking of gardens in the spring what's hardest to raise? One's back, of course.

Sunday night services made us wish we were a Senior, almost. It must be overwhelming to carry around all that dignity. So much is expected of the Seniors these days.

Senior: Of course, if I work for you, I expect to receive what I am worth.

Employer: I'll do better than that. I'll even pay you a small salary.

Billy had a big car.
He said with loud, long screeches. I fill it full with many a girl.

BRAINERD COPS THIRD PLACE IN DISTRICT TRACK MEET FRIDAY

FACULTY

Mr. Rosel, B. H. S. manual training and mechanical drawing instructor, was born in Moorhead, Minn., where his earlier education as well as his high school training was received. At Moorhead high he became very prominent in athletics, which was to play an important part in his later teaching career. He was a member of the all-state high school football team one year besides playing on the school baseball and basketball teams.

Mr. Rosel's later education was obtained at Moorhead State Teachers' College with other courses on the side at the University of Minnesota and the Stout Institute in Wisconsin. While at college he received merit for his excellent work as a member of the baseball, football and basketball teams.

He joined the faculty at B. H. S. in 1920 when he was placed in charge of athletics besides teaching industrial arts. At the present time as supervisor of our school baseball team he is doing his part to keep up the standard of athletics at Brainerd high.

Community singing in the Brainerd high school is now a thing of the past until next fall. Reluctantly the students in both the city hall and old court house filed to their classes after one last and glorious "sing" yesterday morning. Since they had their choice of songs, they waxed sentimental, and sang old favorites like "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." Then came "Sailing" and "The Little Brown Church in the Vale" which almost caused tears to flow.

To relieve the saddened hearts, Miss Tornstrom called attention to the fact that Brainerd had won third place in the track meet at Little Falls and requested that all sing the Brainerd high school song. This request was granted with a will, after which Hallet Clarkson led the old court house assembly in a yell for the track men.

At the city hall, in response to the unanimous urging by the students, Mr. Eiden and Mr. LaMeter sang lustily "The Old Family Toothbrush" and "The Little Red Caboose." Thus was gloom dispelled even though the seniors cannot anticipate any more community singing as the underclassmen can.

GOOD MUSIC FEATURES CONCERT OF GLEE CLUB

The annual spring concert given by the Girls' Glee Club, the octet and members of the orchestra, all under the direction of Miss Rickard was not well attended due to adverse weather conditions last Wednesday night, but those who were present were treated to a well-balanced program of songs, readings and instrumental selections.

Perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the program was the singing of the Girls' Glee Club which has made remarkable progress this past year. The cantata "Spring Cometh" which seemed very appropriate that evening, was well sung and proved to be an excellent finale.

NETOPPEW CAMPFIRE GIRLS DINE AT GULL

Last Thursday afternoon the Netoppeew Campfire girls had dinner at Jones's cottage on Gull Lake.

All of the girls helped to prepare the dinner. Lucille Wrobel, who is working for her "Firemaker's" rank, superintended the preparation. The girls had planned for a good time on the lake but the boat proved to leak faster than the water could be dipped out. The evening was spent in playing various games, singing songs, giving yells, and roasting marshmallows.

At the council fire last night, the girls reported on honors and were presented with beads. Tams and armbands were given to each member. Lucille Wrobel who will take her rank as firemaker at the grand council fire got her ceremonial gown.

Now that Alice Nolan and George McCaffrey have won the tennis championship, we wish to bestow a crown upon Wilfred Knutson. His lower jaw is the best example of perpetual motion that we know. He's the champion gum-chewer.

MOE WINS A FIRST, SCHUETY AND ABRAHAMSON TAKE SECONDS

Brainerd interscholastic athletics for the year 1928-1929 came to a close last Saturday afternoon in a dual track meet held at Little Falls when Kasch's proteges took third in total number of points made.

Although chilled by cool breezes, the competitors were held from establishing any new dash records. Those that were, were in the weight events.

The result, to the team, merely showed that experience is necessary for a winning aggregation. Practically the same team will be in the running for 1930 honors and should go far considering the fact that for most of the team it was their first opportunity to take part in a track meet.

Brainerd scored one first, two seconds and four thirds. Moe was the only blue and white runner to win a first, his event being the half-mile. In the javelin throw Abrahamson scored a second as did Lammon in the 440-yard dash. Hoffbauer placed third in both the high and low hurdles, and Schuety took thirds in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

The nine representatives of B. H. S. were: Abrahamson, Foster, Hautala, Hoffbauer, Johnson, Karlson, Lammon, Moe and Schuety.

Modern History Students Project Completed

Miss Herwig's modern history classes have handed in the projects they have had two months to complete. Many of these projects show ability on the part of the pupils to find the material and put it together neatly.

The pupils showed so much talent in their projects that an exhibition has already been arranged for this spring or early next fall.

Among those which received A's and A plus are: Amy Markham, who made a booklet on "Printing in Modern Times"; Harold Moe, who made a booklet illustrating the progress of ships, by a series of hand drawings which were very neat; Kenneth Stimson, who made a booklet illustrating the progress of aviation; Alvin Antonsen, who made one concerned with "Our Flag" and Lyle Mayo, who also selected this subject.

Jean Cass dressed dolls in foreign costumes, but omitted the modern flapper and is at work now to complete this dress. Marie Hoffbauer on printing, David Weber on pipe organs and Mary Hawkins on occupations, also prepared excellent projects.

One of the very best of the booklets from an historical standpoint is one belonging to Arline Hagberg who compiled pictures to show changes in dress from the dawn of civilization to the present day. This booklet is extremely interesting and has been given much thought in the preparation.

There are still many more projects to come in and which no doubt will be very much worth while.

TRI-HI GIRLS RECEIVE PINS AT LAST MEETING

One of the last Tri-Hi suppers which are to be served this school year took place last Monday. The serving committees consisted of: Rose Gudmunsen, Isabel Reagan, Genevieve Jenkins, Almira Christenson and Louise Clausen.

After the supper the members received their pins which they have been waiting for with much anxiety. They also may have the honor of being able to originate the national Tri-Hi pin.

The long and the short of it—Louise Clausen and Roger Callahan.

EXCHANGE

The plans for the commencement of the Technical High St. Cloud has just been completed.

The Lake City graduates have secured Professor Benjamin E. Youngdahl from Gustavus Adolphus for their commencement speaker.

The Junior-Senior banquet of Wadena high was considered a huge success by all.
The Seniors of Glencoe presented "Captain Applejack" for their Senior class play.

BRAINERD COUNTRY CLUB IS VALUABLE ASSET OF CITY

AMERICAN PROSPECTS FOR TENNIS ARE ROSEATE

INVESTMENT OF CLUB NOW TOTALS $17,500

AVERAGE COST OF MAINTENANCE IS $3,000 PER ANNUM

GRASS GREENS WILL IMPROVE COURSE NEARLY 100 PER CENT

The Brainerd Country Club was organized in the fall of 1920. Property suitable for golf grounds, located just west of the Minnesota & International railway crossing of Trunk Highways 2 and 19, about one and one-half miles from the business center of the city, was purchased and improved. The club had the advantage of having the benefit of the advice and experience of Tom Vardon, of the White Bear Golf club, in laying out its nine hole golf course and he stated the land secured was eminently fitted for the purpose, and would make an excellent and natural golf course, which prediction has proven to be true. Lack of funds to do all the things that should have been done, to commence with, caused the officers of the club to first build sand greens, which have been used up to the present. During the latter part of 1928 arrangements were made by the directors to provide grass greens, which, it is expected, will be ready for use by August of this year. This improvement, which will be appreciated by members and friends of the club alike, represents an expenditure of approximately $3,000. It will be found that grass greens will improve the course nearly 100 per cent.

When this change becomes generally known and that so good a golf course as this will be, is located in this vicinity, it will undoubtedly bring many tourists to the Country Club, and, incidentally, to Brainerd. It has been found that the present-day tourist is more concerned about selecting a place for his vacation with reference to the proximity of a first-class golf course than to the quality of the fishing to be had where he is going, and this club, bearing that in mind, is doing all it can to help bring visitors to Brainerd, and see that they get what they are looking for when they arrive.

From the beginning to the present the club has invested for:

Land	$ 4,000.00
Buildings	2,500.00
Water supply	1,500.00
Fairways and sand greens	4,500.00
Tools and machinery	2,000.00
Grass greens	3,000.00
Total	$17,500.00

while the average cost of maintenance is about $3,000.00 per annum. These figures show the courage and vision required of the men behind the enterprise, which has enabled them to be able to properly take care of those who love golf, whether from home or abroad.

Membership in the club costs $50. (including first year's playing privileges without dues) with annual dues of $25, commencing with the second year. This membership also includes playing privileges for the wives and dependent daughters of members. Persons taking out membership rights, if they do not care to play themselves, have the privilege of transferring playing rights to some friend, with the consent of the membership committee.

The citizens of Brainerd have quite generally availed themselves of the opportunity to join this club, enjoy the invigorating game of golf, help support the club and do their part in aiding in advertising Brainerd both in and outside the state. The membership roster is being rapidly filled up. In view of the fact that the club has provided, at large expense, facilities that do and will increasingly attract visitors to the city, which mean much to those who are engaged in business here, such business men who have not yet become members are urged to join soon, as a matter of civic duty, before the membership list is completed, even though they do not care to play or do not have the time to do so. Once they become interested in the game, however, they will ever afterward thank their lucky stars for being directed to so enjoyable a sport, where they can obtain needed relaxation and meet friends and visitors under pleasant and agreeable conditions.

Those interested are cordially invited to so advise any member of the club, who will gladly take them out to the grounds and enable them to inspect and play a game, if they desire to do so. Membership application blanks will also be cheerfully furnished on request.

It is needless to add that all visitors to Brainerd or those intending to pass through here are invited to visit the golf grounds and enjoy themselves whenever they have time to do so.

DEVELOPMENTS IN SPORT ARE MORE ENCOURAGING

AMERICAN DAVIS CUP TEAM SLASHES WAY TO VICTORY

NOW HAS EYES ON FINALS OF AMERICAN ZONE PLAY

By WILLIAM J. DUNN
New York, May 21.—Recent developments in the world of tennis have tended to cast a more roseate hue over American prospects for 1929.

The American Davis cup team, minus those old time stars—Bill Tilden and Francis Hunter—slashed its way through the first round Davis Cup matches with Canada to a great straight-match victory and now look to the contest with Japan for the right to enter the finals of the American zone play.

From Europe comes the word that Tilden and Hunter have shown a return to form in the French hard court championships and will be available for Davis Cup play should the United States team emerge victorious in its zone play.

Dispatches from Auteuil, where the French titles are being decided would have you believe that Tilden is back in top form.

Another glance at those despatches, however, would show that the opinion is based on the showing of the No. 1 ranking star of this nation on the basis of his play in but one match—a first round doubles affair in which he was matched with Hunter.

Hunter, however, showed excellent form in his match with Tilden and in the mixed doubles engagement he played with Helen Wills as his partner. There is no apparent reason why he should not have at least one more good year.

Critics have not gone so far as to predict the failure of France in its defense of the Davis Cup this year but they do agree that a good year for some of the younger American stars, including Wilmer Allison, George Lott, Johnny Hennessey and John Van Ryn, would be a warning for the French to watch out in 1930.

Aside from the Davis Cup matches, the first important tennis event of the season will be the national intercollegiate at Haverford, Pa., starting June 24.

SAL SCRIO, HOWEVER, FLOORED HIM IN THE 4TH ROUND OF BOUT

THE CHAMPION ALSO SUFFERED SPRAINED RIGHT HAND FROM 5TH ROUND ON

Los Angeles, May 21.—(U.P.)—Although floored in the fourth round with a punch which appeared low, and apparently suffering with a sprained right hand from the fifth round on, Tod Morgan easily retained his junior lightweight title last night in a ten round fight against Sal Scorio, hard hitting Mexican.

More than 12,000 fans crowded into Wrigley Field to see the fight, in which the Seattle champion gave the challenger a fast boxing lesson. In the fourth round Scorio clipped a stiff right to the champion's chin and followed with a swishing left, which apparently struck low, and dropped Morgan to the floor. He was up without a protest.

Baseball's Chief Training Mecca

By QUIN HALL
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., which begins to look like the permanent Spring training camp of both the New York Yankees and the Boston Braves, is noted for other things besides being a good spot to condition big league ball players.

Across the street from the Princess Martha Hotel, the March headquarters of the Yanks, stands the only Government-owned outdoor postoffice in the United States. When the plans for this building were being made before the World War, the Government insisted that the lobby, at least, should be enclosed, but this was finally voted down and the public transacts all of its business on an open porch which extends around the structure. And the Sunshine City is noted for other things. There is probably more horseshoe pitching done in St. Pete than in any other one spot, and the stranger who tries to edge into the sport must be pretty adept at ringing the peg or he will find himself badly outclassed.

Horseshoe tournaments are held there every Winter and the events attract the best players in the country. Outdoor checker players have their own club and park, while roque and shuffle-board addicts find large areas devoted to courts for their amusement.

The sidewalks in the downtown section are lined with green park benches and, at certain times during the day, people stand in line for a chance to do a little serious sitting. The city teems with free entertainment. There are two band concerts daily during the season, and it is possible for a frugal visitor to take a sandwich when he leaves home in the morning and spend a pleasant day without any other expenditure whatever.

Fishing is an important pastime and is costs only as much as you care to invest. The deep sea sport naturally calls for considerable cash but the pier fishing can be accomplished on a small budget.

Noted as one of the healthiest cities in the United States, St. Pete is the ideal spot for frugal whooping. And—
Both the Yanks and the Braves will return there again next Spring.

BRAINERD COUNTRY CLUB IS VALUABLE ASSET OF CITY

INVESTMENT OF CLUB NOW TOTALS $17,500

AVERAGE COST OF MAINTENANCE IS $3,000 PER ANNUM

GRASS GREENS WILL IMPROVE COURSE NEARLY 100 PER CENT

The Brainerd Country Club was organized in the fall of 1920. Property suitable for golf grounds, located just west of the Minnesota & International railway crossing of Trunk Highways 2 and 19, about one and one-half miles from the business center of the city, was purchased and improved. The club had the advantage of having the benefit of the advice and experience of Tom Vardon, of the White Bear Golf club, in laying out its nine hole golf course and he stated the land secured was eminently fitted for the purpose, and would make an excellent and natural golf course, which prediction has proven to be true. Lack of funds to do all the things that should have been done, to commence with, caused the officers of the club to first build sand greens, which have been used up to the present. During the latter part of 1928 arrangements were made by the directors to provide grass greens, which, it is expected, will be ready for use by August of this year. This improvement, which will be appreciated by members and friends of the club alike, represents an expenditure of approximately $3,000. It will be found that grass greens will improve the course nearly 100 per cent.

When this change becomes generally known and that so good a golf course as this will be, is located in this vicinity, it will undoubtedly bring many tourists to the Country club, and, incidentally, to Brainerd. It has been found that the present-day tourist is more concerned about selecting a place for his vacation with reference to the proximity of a first-class golf course than to the quality of the fishing to be had where he is going, and this club, bearing that in mind, is doing all it can to help bring visitors to Brainerd, and see that they get what they are looking for when they arrive.

From the beginning to the present the club has invested for:

Land	$4,000.00
Buildings	2,500.00
Water supply	1,500.00
Fairways and sand greens	4,500.00
Tools and machinery	2,000.00
Grass greens	3,000.00

Total $17,500.00 while the average cost of maintenance is about $3,000.00 per annum. These figures show the courage and vision required of the men behind the enterprise, which has enabled them to be able to properly take care of those who love golf, whether from home or abroad.

Membership in the club costs $50. (including first year's playing privileges without dues) with annual dues of $25, commencing with the second year. This membership also includes playing privileges for the wives and dependent daughters of members. Persons taking out membership rights, if they do not care to play themselves, have the privilege of transferring playing rights to some friend, with the consent of the membership committee.

The citizens of Brainerd have quite generally availed themselves of the opportunity to join this club, enjoy the invigorating game of golf, help support the club and do their part in aiding in advertising Brainerd both in and outside the state. The membership roster is being rapidly filled up. In view of the fact that the club has provided, at large expense, facilities that do and will increasingly attract visitors to the city, which mean much to those who are engaged in business here, such business men who have not yet become members are urged to join soon, as a matter of civic duty, before the membership list is completed, even though they do not care to play or do not have the time to do so. Once they become interested in the game, however, they will ever afterward thank their lucky stars for being directed to so enjoyable a sport, where they can obtain needed relaxation and meet friends and visitors under pleasant and agreeable conditions.

Those interested are cordially invited to so advise any member of the club, who will gladly take them out to the grounds and enable them to inspect and play a game, if they desire to do so. Membership application blanks will also be cheerfully furnished on request.

It is needless to add that all visitors to Brainerd or those intending to pass through here are invited to visit the golf grounds and enjoy themselves whenever they have time to do so.

DEVELOPMENTS IN SPORT ARE MORE ENCOURAGING

AMERICAN DAVIS CUP TEAM SLASHES WAY TO VICTORY

NOW HAS EYES ON FINALS OF AMERICAN ZONE PLAY

By WILLIAM J. DUNN
New York, May 21.—Recent developments in the world of tennis have tended to cast a more roseate hue over American prospects for 1929.

The American Davis cup team, minus those old time stars—Bill Tilden and Francis Hunter—slashed its way through the first round Davis Cup matches with Canada to a great straight-match victory and now look to the contest with Japan for the right to enter the finals of the American zone play.

From Europe comes the word that Tilden and Hunter have shown a return to form in the French hard court championships and will be available for Davis Cup play should the United States team emerge victorious in its zone play.

Dispatches from Antwerp, where the French titles are being decided would have you believe that Tilden is back in top form.

Another glance at those despatches, however, would show that the opinion is based on the showing of the No. 1, ranking star of this nation on the basis of his play in but one match—a first round doubles affair in which he was matched with Hunter.

Hunter, however, showed excellent form in his match with Tilden and in the mixed doubles engagement he played with Helen Wills as his partner. There is no apparent reason why he should not have at least one more good year.

Critics have not gone so far as to predict the failure of France in its defense of the Davis Cup this year but they do agree that a good year for some of the younger American stars, including Wilmer Allison, George Lott, Johnny Hennessey and John Van Ryn, would be a warning for the French to watch out in 1930.

Aside from the Davis Cup matches, the first important tennis event of the season will be the national intercollegiate at Haverford, Pa., starting June 24.

HULLED OATS ARE BEST FOR SWINE

Valuable Because They Produce Growthy Pigs.

An average of the 1927 and 1928 tests at the Ohio experiment station gives hulled oats a value 46 per cent greater than corn when the corn was left out of the ration entirely and 62 per cent more pound for pound when used as only a partial substitute for corn. Hulled oats proved profitable in these tests despite the comparatively high price at which whole oats were charged, 48 cents, against 91 cents for corn.

The most efficient ration ever fed at the Ohio station, according to Robinson and Gerlaugh, was that of hulled oats, tankage and alfalfa meal in 1927 when less than 300 pounds of feed produced 100 pounds of gain. A higher quality, more efficient protein in the groat or kernel of the oat grain, makes hulled oats more valuable than corn for hogs and is responsible for more rapid gains and more pounds per unit of feed.

Although the 1928 tests at Ohio were not quite as favorable for hulled oats as those during the preceding year, a lot of pigs fed hulled oats, corn, tankage, and linseed meal, ground alfalfa and minerals, gained more rapidly than any lot on test. This same lot had the smallest feed requirement for each 100 pounds of gain with the exception of one other, that in which all the corn was replaced by hulled oats. Despite their higher efficiency, hulled oats proved a little too expensive in 1928, partly because of the high price at which oats were charged and partly because of the expense of hulling. Unlike previous results, gains from their use cost slightly more than with corn as the only grain.

At both the Iowa and Illinois stations, hulled oats proved more efficient than corn. Each of these stations recommended their use if they can be obtained at the same price per pound as corn, and possibly at a price slightly higher. Like Ohio, they have had best results by substituting hulled oats for only part of the corn.

Pure-bred men find hulled oats particularly valuable because they produce growthy pigs which weigh well and measure well with the tape line. Hogs fed for market can sometimes be pushed along more rapidly with this efficient feed and sold before the usual drop in prices comes during the fall months.

Service

Business today is based upon service. The "grab and run" manufacturer is almost extinct. Advertising has played its part in his passing. By contrast with the open methods of others, it has thrown his operations into such sharp relief that it has left him no recourse. His failure was inevitable.

People have come to depend upon consistently advertised merchandise. They have confidence in the manufacturer who places himself on record month after month as to the merits of his product. They know he will maintain that product at the standard he has set, not only for their protection but for his own. Should he drop below, the buying public would soon discover it, and his business would be faced by ruin. No manufacturer who is spending large sums to produce, advertise and sell an article is going to take that risk.

Quality, utility and value are the things uppermost in the mind of the advertiser today. Improving his product, making it more useful to you, giving you greater value for your money, these are his aims. When he succeeds, he tells you about it—in the advertisements.

If you neglect the advertisements, you are missing one of the most vital features in this newspaper.

each 100 pounds of gain with the exception of one other, that in which all the corn was replaced by hulled oats.
Despite their higher efficiency, hulled oats proved a little too expensive in 1928, partly because of the high price at which oats were charged and partly because of the expense of hulling. Unlike previous results, gains from their use cost slightly more than with corn as the only grain.

At both the Iowa and Illinois stations, hulled oats proved more efficient than corn. Each of these stations recommend their use if they can be obtained at the same price per pound as corn, and possibly at a price slightly higher. Like Ohio, they have had best results by substituting hulled oats for only part of the corn.

Pure-bred men find hulled oats particularly valuable because they produce growthy pigs which weigh well and measure well with the tape line.
Hogs fed for market can sometimes be pushed along more rapidly with this efficient feed and sold before the usual drop in prices comes during the fall months.

Service

Business today is based upon service. The "grab and run" manufacturer is almost extinct. Advertising has played its part in his passing. By contrast with the open methods of others, it has thrown his operations into such sharp relief that it has left him no recourse. His failure was inevitable.

People have come to depend upon consistently advertised merchandise. They have confidence in the manufacturer who places himself on record month after month as to the merits of his product. They know he will maintain that product at the standard he has set, not only for their protection but for his own. Should he drop below, the buying public would soon discover it, and his business would be faced by ruin. No manufacturer who is spending large sums to produce, advertise and sell an article is going to take that risk.

Quality, utility and value are the things uppermost in the mind of the advertiser today. Improving his product, making it more useful to you, giving you greater value for your money, these are his aims. When he succeeds, he tells you about it—in the advertisements.

If you neglect the advertisements, you are missing one of the most vital features in this newspaper.

COUNCIL FAVORS MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Three Propositions Offered for Field
Presented by Mayor, Chamber Committee

NEED OF ONE RECOGNIZED

Council Committee Authorized to Determine to What End Commissioners Will Assist

Braierd's need for a municipal airport and the acquiring of the same came up for serious consideration by the new city council last evening, and following an hour's discussion on propositions presented through Mayor Frank E. Little, chairman of the airport committee of the city council and members of the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the council on unanimous approval authorized its committee to continue in the work starting for the securing of an airport by meeting with the County Commissioners for the purpose of securing their viewpoint and also what assistance they may render.

Action followed expressions of approval of the need for a municipal airport by members of the council and presentation of three proposals whereby land owners offered locations near the city for sale.

Three communications addressed to Dr. E. C. Herzog, chairman of the airport committee of the Chamber in which propositions were offered were read by Mrs. E. T. Fleener.

The one submitted by William Graham, Jr., follows:

"In answer to your request for a piece on the certain piece of land on the northwest corner of the junction of highways No. 2 and 19, two miles west of Brainerd, known to your committee, may we make the following offers:

"Reserving five acres of land on the immediate corner where the buildings stand, leaving 75 acres at a price of $35 an acre.

Resko Brothers' communication follows:

"In response to your telephone inquiry we submit the following price on the 160 acres adjoining 13th street on S. E. city limits:

160 acres at $100.....$16,000.00
Caretaker's house, garage, well and improved runways..... 4,000.00

$20,000.00

"The field has been properly surveyed, laid out and sketches sent to the Department of Commerce at Washington, D. C., and is now listed and rated according to their ruling."

The third communication, that from Harvey Britton follows:

"It is my understanding that you are at this time looking up sites for an airport on land adjacent to Brainerd. I would like to call your attention to a piece of land that is owned by my three brothers and me, which is situated in Oak Lawn township about two miles from the Brainerd post office.

"This land is at the present time cleared of all trees, stumps, and rocks and in my opinion, well adapted to an airport. At this time we would offer this land at the rate of $100.00 per acre but if our offer is not accepted within the next week or ten days, we will then have it plowed and seeded in grain and clover and will be forced to ask an added $5 per acre for the seeded portions.

"This 100 acres tract is described as follows, to wit: the east one half of the northeast quarter and the east one half of the west one half of the northeast quarter of section 29, township 45, range 30."

Charts of the Graham and Rosko properties were laid before the council. They were surveyed by Louis Knudsen, county surveyor, and shows the land where runways have already been established at the Rosko field and the proposed runways at the Graham field.

Stewart C. Mills of the Chamber committee told the council that to date the committee had been active in the securing of information relative to the prospective fields near Brainerd.

"It will be your duty to select the location of the airport. The money involved in the securing of the field will be an important matter to consider in the selection of a field," Mr. Mills said. "The cost must also be considered as to improvements to the field to place it in the proper condition to meet the requirements of a standard nationally approved airport. The committee has gone into this matter without favoring anyone."

"Aviation is not coming," it is here. Brainerd has been backward in securing a municipal airport, and it now becomes imperative for us to take immediate action for the interests of the city," said R. E. Wyatt.

Alderman Andrew Wesley inquired as to who would maintain the airport. The answer was given by Alderman W. J. Lyons that the city and county would.

Mr. Mills replied that there were two that might ask for assistance, Crosby-Ironton and Pequot.

Cost of purchase of field and improvements at the Graham field would cost approximately $4,000, members of the Chamber committee stated.

Graham's 80 acres have been surveyed to include three runways, 2500 feet east and west, 2,000 feet northeast and 2,000 feet southwest. Marl and sod would be used as a surface.

The estimated cost to purchase and improve the Britton place would be approximately $13,000. Its location was considered as being not as favorable as the Graham property.

Rosko's flying field which includes the improvements there would cost $20,000.

Purchasing, printing and city property: Wm. J. Lyons, Frank B. Johnson, V. F. Anderson.

A. C. White asked permission to erect a one story building at 215 South Broadway. The request was granted subject to the approval of the city engineer.

Proposed changes in the Parker building were presented in blue print form. A permit to make the improvements was granted W. T. Carlson, contractor, subject to the approval of the city engineer.

A permit was also granted for the construction of the store building by Con O'Brien west of the Montgomery-Ward building now under construction on East Laurel street.

The O'Brecht Sisters were granted a license to operate a show here during the week of August 5.

Turn Down Pump Licenses

The request of Gustafson & Nelson for permission to install a gasoline curb pump at their location on Third Avenue N. E. was on motion not granted. The council felt there were too many curb pumps in the city at the present time and took this action expressing their stand as being not in favor of the granting of licenses to operate new curb pumps.

Roy Wyre, taxi cab operator, made application for a refund on one of his cab licenses. A refund of the unused part of the license was ordered granted.

City Engineer R. T. Campbell brought to the attention of the council the increasing number of motor vehicle accidents in Brainerd, urging that signs be placed at intersections and at various zones in the city. The matter was referred to the street committee and the city engineer.

PLEADS GUILTY TO LIQUOR CHARGES

Roy C. Wyre pleaded guilty this afternoon in district court to two counts charging him with sale of intoxicating liquor and one count charging transportation.

Sentence will be imposed tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by Judge Graham Torrance.

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER XXVI.

"AND just as I opened the door I heard Mr. Greely— you know how he shouts—say, 'You got into this, now you can get out of it. Don't come to me,' he said, 'I'm no pawnbroker. Go to the bank and do things right!' And I don't know whether I ought to tell you this, or not—" Miss Yardley paused, and looked doubtfully at Daphne. "Well, I think you ought to finish," Daphne murmured, torn between conscience and curiosity as to what went on behind that closed door. Miss Yardley took another look around the law library, to make sure no one was lurking behind a bookcase. "Maybe, I shouldn't have told you anything," but on account of you and Mr. McKevitt being such friends. I never saw Mr. Greely so mad. . . believe me I left without waiting to say excuse me—"

"But what did Mr. Greely say, Miss Yardley?"

Miss Yardley fidgeted on her common-sense heels, looked down at her nicely polished finger nails, and then back at the flushed and trembling Daphne. "I couldn't repeat his exact words, but McKevitt's business must be in terrible shape. Evidently he has been buying on a margin—you know—taking a chance on stock going up, and counting on Greely to back him, and he's awfully mad, and he won't—" And he said, when Mr. McKevitt said he knew what he was doing, that San Quentin was full of others that thought the same way—"

"Oh that doesn't mean anything!" Daphne almost laughed in relief. "You know how Mr. Greely always talks—he exaggerates everything—"

"Just the same things must be pretty bad."

"Because Mr. Greely blew up! Cora Yardley, you know what a temper he has! Didn't I see him put that life-insurance salesman out last week just because he—"

"I don't know anything about life-insurance, but I do know that Mr. Greely's temper is under better control than some people think. He only lets it fly when he has a reason for it, and he thinks it's going to get him something—"

"All right then, he's trying to bully Ralph into doing things his way—but that's no sign he's right and Ralph's wrong!" Daphne retorted.

"Have it your own way. I'm sorry I said anything. I'm sure it's nothing to me!" Miss Yardley got the last word after all. After that there was a coolness between the two girls. Miss Yardley went out to lunch with Mr. McKevitt's secretary instead of Daphne, and Daphne was left alone. Not that she cared. . . she had lots else to do.

There were two gorgeous, always to be remembered days, when Ralph met her at the Palace, and took her to lunch. Fun to wait for him in the Palm Court, with her little brown pumps toting straight out before her. ("Never sit with your legs crossed, no lady does," her stepmother had taught her), and her gloved hands politely folded in her lap. Fun to watch the debutantes, and the luncheon groups, and the business men, well groomed, and prosperous looking. Waiting for Ralph. . . the best looking one of all!

Gardenias for her at the flower stand. "Or would you rather have roses, or one of those orchids? Too bad they haven't any prize blossoms!" Ralph teasing her, buying everything for her, thinking of everything. Surely he wouldn't be in such good spirits, and spending so much money if Miss Yardley were right!

The yellow car was often at the Hinckle door in the evenings now, and Mrs. Spellman and Mrs. Halliday, the light-housekeeping ladies from upstairs had something to talk about again. There were rides into the country, and dinners down town, and two shows, and a swim in the big tank near the ocean when she almost drowned, paddling out beyond her depth, admiring his beautiful, rhythmic stroke, watching his wet blond head cleave through the dark green water.

And then there was the gala night, the red-letter night when he took her to hear Carmen at the Civic Auditorium and she succumbed to Flora's entreaties, and bought a black chiffon dinner dress for the occasion.

Miss Viola was a little hurt because she hadn't been asked to make it. "Of course, I could make it for about half what it cost you. Those boughten things are just thrown together. Hold still, is that a flaw? No, it's only a basting. . . Very stylish, but black is so old—"

"With her black hair and white skin it's a crime for her to wear anything else," Flora shouted drowning her out. "In fact if I were you, Daphne, I'd marry some old guy with one foot in the grave so as to be a young widow. . . if you wouldn't look wonderful! real swell mourning with one of those marvelous hats with white ruching, and a long veil, and a string of real pearls to relieve the all black—"

"I wore black for Hinckle two years, aber no pearl benda, I had jet," old Mrs. Hinckle mumbled, moistening a crooked finger and rubbing the hem of Daphne's dress to see if the dye was fast. "Ach it looks all right, I don't know, maybe it's stylish, aber, it wouldn't do for me—"

Even Mrs. Spellman, hearing the confab, came and stood in the doorway admiring the new dress and apologizing for her dirty kimono. "Don't look at me, I been washing out a few things, I like to do Mr. Spellman's union-suits myself, the laundry's so hard on them— That low neck looks fine on you, Miss Haines, you've got a real full neck, considering how thin you are. I always like a good, slump neck. And legs with some shape to them. Mr. Spellman always says. . . Mercy, don't all look at my legs. I got on an old pair of stockin's, and Spellman's slippers, I was just going up stairs to get cleaned up, time goes so fast it's five o'clock before a body knows it—"

In the end she had to go up to Flora's room to get away from the mob. There Flora brushed her black hair until it lay slick and lustrous as satin on her small, round shaped head. Lipstick, and a touch of mascara—Flora was an artist at make-up, and finally—after a half-hearted, "Oh I couldn't, Flora—I couldn't think of it," she borrowed Flora's Spanish shawl!

Coming out of the opera she saw her fleeting reflection in a glass. "Oh!" she gasped, stealing another look to make sure. This radiant, starry-eyed girl Daphne? Coming out of the opera with Ralph McKevitt!

"It's too good to be true," she thought that night. "It can't last—some darn thing'll go and happen!"

And something must have happened, for he stopped coming. "Busy," he explained briefly. "Sorry I can't get away!" So there wasn't anything to do but bear it, and make up excuses to tell the inquisitive roomers.

Air Mail Flier Claims Champion Sweet Tooth

Pilot Robert P. Hopkins, of National Air Transport, finishes off a candy bar just before he takes off from Chicago for Cleveland.

CHICAGO—Where will you find the biggest candy eaters? The answer, according to the National Confectioners' Association, is—in the air.

Professional aviators, as a class, probably eat more sweets than any other workers. The three hundred pilots employed in scheduled air transport corporations in the United States consume, it is estimated, at least five times as much candy as the same number of average individuals who stick to the ground.

The candy eating championship is claimed by Pilot Robert P. Hopkins who flies the mail and express planes of National Air Transport on the Chicago-Cleveland division of the Transcontinental Airway. Pilot Hopkins is acknowledged to have the champion sweet tooth of the N.A.T.'s staff of thirty-five pilots. "I always take candy with me when flying from Chicago to Cleveland, or back again, on a regular mail run," said Pilot Hopkins. "Most N.A.T. pilots do the same. "When the weather is good and the pilot hasn't much to do except keep on the course, it helps to pass time to have some small candy to nibble. Or if one is hungry, a husky candy bar tastes mighty good and tides a chap over until he lands."

Daphne

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER XXVI.

"AND just as I opened the door I heard Mr. Greely— you know how he shouts—say, 'You got into this, now you can get out of it. Don't come to me,' he said, 'I'm no pawnbroker. Go to the bank and do things right!' And I don't know whether I ought to tell you this, or not—" Miss Yardley paused, and looked doubtfully at Daphne. "Well . . . since you began, I think you ought to finish," Daphne murmured, torn between conscience and curiosity as to what went on behind that closed door. Miss Yardley took another look around the law library to make sure no one was lurking behind a bookcase. "Maybe, I shouldn't have told you anything . . . but on account of you and Mr. McKevitt being such friends . . . It gave me such a shock. I never saw Mr. Greely so mad . . . believe me I left without waiting to say excuse me."

"But what did Mr. Greely say, Miss Yardley?"

Miss Yardley fidgeted on her common-sense heels, looked down at her nicely polished finger nails, and then back at the flushed and trembling Daphne. "I couldn't repeat his exact words, but McKevitt's business must be in terrible shape. Evidently he has been buying on a margin— you know— taking a chance on stock going up, and counting on Greely to back him, and he's awfully mad, and he won't . . . And he said, when Mr. McKevitt said he knew what he was doing, that San Quentin was full of others that thought the same way—"

"Oh that doesn't mean anything!" Daphne almost laughed in her relief. "You know how Mr. Greely always talks—he exaggerates everything—"

"Just the same things must be pretty bad."

"Because Mr. Greely blew up! Cora Yardley, you know what a temper he has! Didn't I see him put that life-insurance salesman out last week just because he—"

"I don't know anything about life-insurance, but I do know that Mr. Greely's temper is under better control than some people think. He only lets it fly when he has a reason for it, and he thinks it's going to get him something—"

"All right then, he's trying to bully Ralph into doing things his way—but that's no sign he's right and Ralph's wrong!" Daphne retorted.

"Have it your own way. I'm sorry I said anything. I'm sure it's nothing to me!" Miss Yardley got the last word after all.

After that there was a coolness between the two girls. Miss Yardley went out to lunch with Mr. McKevitt's secretary instead of Daphne, and Daphne was left alone. Not that she cared . . . much . . . she had lots else to do.

There were two gorgeous, always to be remembered days, when Ralph met her at the Palace, and took her to lunch. Run to wait for him in the Palm Court, with her little brown pumps toting straight out before her, ("Never sit with your legs crossed, no lady does," her stepmother had taught her), and her gloved hands politely folded in her lap. Fun to watch the debutantes, and the luncheon groups, and the business men, well groomed, and prosperous looking. Waiting for Ralph . . . the best looking one of all!

Gardenias for her at the flower stand. "Or would you rather have roses, or one of those orchids? Too bad they haven't any prune blossoms!" Ralph teasing her, buying everything for her, thinking of everything. Surely he wouldn't be in such good spirits, and spending so much money if Miss Yardley were right!

The yellow car was often at the Hinckle door in the evenings now, and Mrs. Spellman and Mrs. Halliday, the light-housekeeping ladies from upstairs had something to talk about again. There were rides into the country, and dinners down town, and two shows, and a swim in the big tank near the ocean when she almost drowned, paddling out beyond her depth, admiring his beautiful, rhythmical stroke, watching his wet blond head cleave through the dark green water.

And then there was the gala night, the red-letter night when he took her to hear Carmen at the Civic Auditorium and she succumbed to Flora's entreaties, and bought a black chiffon dinner dress for the occasion.

Miss Viola was a little hurt because she hadn't been asked to make it. "Of course, I could have made it for about half what it cost you. Those boughten things are just thrown together. Hold still, is that a flaw? No, it's only dyeing, why did you get black? Black is so old—"

"With her black hair and white skin it's a crime for her to wear

anything else," Flora shouted, drowning her out. "In fact if I were you, Daphne, I'd marry some old guy with one foot in the grave so as to be a young widow if you wouldn't look wonderful in real swell mourning with one of those marvelous hats with white ruching, and a long veil, and a string of real pearls to relieve the all black—"

"I wore black for Hinckle two years, after no pearl beads, I had jet," old Mrs. Hinckle mumbled, moistening a crooked finger and rubbing the hem of Daphne's dress to see if the dye was fast. "Ach it looks all right, I don't know, maybe it's stylish, aber, it wouldn't do for me—"

Even Mrs. Spellman, hearing the confab, came and stood in the doorway admiring the new dress and apologizing for her dirty kimona. "Don't look at me, I been washing out a few things, I like to do Mr. Spellman's union-suits myself, the laundry's so hard on them— That low neck looks fine on you, Miss Haines, you've got a real full neck, considering how thin you are. I always like a good, plump neck. And legs with some shape to them. Mr. Spellman always says . . . Mercy, don't all look at my legs, I got on an old pair of stockin's, and Spellman's slippers, I was just goin' up stairs to get cleaned up, time goes so fast it's five o'clock before a body knows it—"

In the end she had to go up to Flora's room to get away from the mob. There Flora brushed her black hair until it lay slick and lustrous as satin on her small, well-shaped head. Lipstick, and a touch of mascara— Flora was an artist at make-up, and finally—after a half-hearted, "Oh I couldn't, Flora—I couldn't think of it," she borrowed Flora's Spanish shawl!

Coming out of the opera she saw her fleeting reflection in a glass. "Oh!" she gasped, stealing another look to make sure. This radiant, starry-eyed girl Daphne? Coming out of the opera with Ralph McKevitt!

"It's too good to be true," she thought that night. "It can't last—some darn thing'll go and happen!"

And something must have happened, for he stopped coming. "Busy," he explained briefly. "Sorry I can't get away!" So there wasn't anything to do but bear it, and make up excuses to tell the inquisitive roomers.

Air Mail Flier Claims Champion Sweet Tooth

Pilot Robert P. Hopkins, of National Air Transport, finishes off a candy bar just before he takes off from Chicago for Cleveland.

CHICAGO—Where will you find the biggest candy eaters? The answer, according to the National Confectioners' Association, is—in the air.

Professional aviators, as a class, probably eat more sweets than any other workers. The three hundred pilots employed in scheduled air transport corporations in the United States consume, it is estimated, at least five times as much candy as the same number of average individuals who stick to the ground.

The candy eating championship is claimed by Pilot Robert P. Hopkins who flies the mail and express planes of National Air Transport on the Chicago-Cleveland division of the Transcontinental Airway. Pilot Hopkins is acknowledged to have the champion sweet tooth of the N.A.T.'s staff of thirty-five pilots.

"I always take candy with me when flying from Chicago to Cleveland, or back again, on a regular mail run," said Pilot Hopkins. "Most N.A.T. pilots do the same."

"When the weather is good and the pilot hasn't much to do except keep on the course, it helps to pass time to have some small candy to nibble. Or if one is hungry, a husky candy bar tastes mighty good and tides a chap over until he lands."
